It Happened on Saturn. . . .

... Few know the real story behind the recent panic in the United States when the Mad Martians from Mars attacked our Earth. The reason the men from Mars threatened in this fashion was all a mistake. They had been indulging in a great battle, which they called labloof, on the smooth svelt of the Sturdy Stallions of Saturn. They were pretty thoroughly beaten but they had been aroused by a certain incident in the battle which will be described below. In their anger they lost their way while on a tempestuous expedition to wreak vengeance against Saturn. They landed on the part of Earth to the South by mistake.

The Incident. . . .

... It was about midway in the first "doirep," as they call it on the other planets, when the mighty men from Mars, playing on a foreign planet and with their backs to the wall, cholebed the lab on the enil of egammirs. As luck would have it one of the speedy stealthy Saturnites swept the lab into his hands only evif sdry from the scoring enil. But, according to the rules, if the lab doesn't go over the enil of egammirs on tasi nwd, then it is given to the opposing platoon.

So. . . .

... The Marshall of the Martians protested to the great god Jupiter who was erefer of the critical classic. The Marshall asked why Saturn had been allowed the lab. After deep ponderous cogitation his gracious highness the erefer scratched his head and said "I dunno, ask the eripmu my first lieutenant and next in command. He'll telya." Off dashed the Marshall as mad as only a mad Martian can be and queried the eripmu who said he dunno and ask the daeh namsenil anyhoo. The Marshall, in murderous mood, made many motions with his mouth but quizzed the daeh namsenil who referred him back to his Great Greatness the erefer. In disgust, the Martians finally resumed the yalp and, unable to cool the Red Mercury that flowed in their veins, they went down to humiliating defeat. Then followed some days later the expedition which was eventually found wandering all over the U.S.A.

Which just goes to show you, folks, anything can happen.

79.1 Per cent. . . .

... After having removed that "Apologia pro bono meo" off its chest, "mub" reports that it averaged 79.1 per cent. for the season—27 correct out of 34—which is a human average, and a typical "mub" stunt, missing a higher class by fractions. And if you want to count those "two ties" again us, the average is still 75 per cent., which isn't too bad, Mr. Fuller. A perfect average three times out of six on a par with Baz O'Meara who has two in a row.

Well, Since It's Cold. . . .

... It's all right to talk about hockey now. The first game for McGill is tonight and it's against Vics and coupons are good and we might beat Vics 'cos Vics took an awful beating from Ottawa and we're going to be there and every-

World News in Brief

Air Force to Protect U.S. and Canada

Washington, November 15.—Denouncing the present anti-Semitic campaign of the Nazi regime, and emphasizing the great danger of foreign aggression in the Americas, President Roosevelt in a press conference today, proposed the creation of a unique protection unit for the Americas. He suggested the development of an air force of from 7,000 to 10,000 planes to protect the Americas against foreign imperialism.

Goering and Goebbels Split on Policy

Berlin, November 15.—Field Marshal Hermann Goering, it was reported in reliable quarters, is deeply indignant over the tremendous destruction resulting from the wave of anti-Semitism sweeping across Germany since last Thursday. He is chiefly opposed by Propaganda Minister Goebbels, who recommends uncompromising persecution of the Jews.

Dutch Join U.K. and U.S. in Aiding Jews

London, November 15.—Ambassador Kennedy of the U.S. conferred with Prime Minister Chamberlain today in an effort to crystallize the plans for the removal of 600,000 Jewish refugees from Germany, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and the South American republics have volunteered their assistance in the proposed scheme.

50 PER CENT. OF QUOTA RAISED FOR CHARITIES

Compares Favourably With Last Year's Returns

PENNY BOXES MISSING

Architecture and R.V.C. Only Bodies to Exceed Allotment

A concerted effort in an extra week provided for the McGill Amalgamated Charities drive on the campus resulted in the collection of approximately 50 per cent. of the $2,800 objective. This compares very favourably with last year's drive, in spite of the competition of a well-organized social season.

In the last week of the drive special boxes for small donations were set up in several of the buildings. Three of these boxes have been reported missing. It is requested that anyone who knows anything of their whereabouts should report them immediately.

Engineers Low.

The largest returns are shown from Arts and Science, but this by no means represents the proportionate returns. Architecture and R.V.C. alone exceeded their allotment. Engineers fell rather shy of the $500 assigned to that faculty. Commerce made a good showing, collecting about 80 per cent. of the $200 expected.

Those canvassers and faculty representatives who have not yet turned in all their accounts are asked to get them straightened away as soon as possible, as the committee is anxious to get its returns at once.

SMOKER POSTPONED

Arts Smoker Cannot Be Held Owing to Hockey Game

The Arts Undergraduate Smoker, scheduled for tonight, is postponed indefinitely, because of the hockey games being held tonight at the Forum. McGill has great expectations for a successful hockey season, but it needs the support of every student. Come out and give the Red team a big hand tonight.

PLANT INSPECTED

Mechanical Club Visits the Montreal Locomotive Works

Over sixty engineers left the Engineering Building yesterday afternoon to visit the Montreal Locomotive Works on Longue Pointe. They were met by one of the executives and divided into groups, with three of the engineering staff as guides. The tour took the engineers through the different shops, where the remaining five locomotives of the latest streamline type were in various stages of construction, with one actually undergoing its final steam test. Judging from the great success of its second plant visit, the Mechanical Club are planning another such trip in the near future.

Final Football Hop Slated for Saturday

Rivalling Saturday's game in popularity the final Football Hop of the current season will be held Saturday night from 9 o'clock to 1 a.m. in the Union Ballroom.

Harrison Jones and his eight-piece orchestra will supply the music, and there will be novel decorations intended as a surprise.

The committee wishes to take this opportunity of informing football fans that this week's hop will be held in the evening instead of in the afternoon.

Tickets for the dance, priced at one dollar per couple, may be obtained from Bill Gentleman, the Union Tuck Shop, Harry Grimdsale, Marshall, Emmet Folgart, Don Gordon and James Connolly.

The dance is under the sponsorship of the Dental Undergraduates Society.

GROUP STUDIES LOCAL FASCISM

Mr. Forsey to Lead Tomorrow's Discussion

Quebec Labour Movement to Be Included in Discussion

Mr. Eugene Forsey of the Economics Department will lead the discussion on "Fascist and Labour Movements in Quebec," to be held by the Social Problems Club in the Union Music Room, Thursday, November 17, at 5 o'clock.

This discussion will be the second in a series of six on the subject "Political Alignments in Quebec."

At the first meeting last week, Mr. Ballantyne, president of the local unit of the American Newspaper Guild, spoke to the group. They discussed the subject of the formation of the Action Libérale Nationale Party in Quebec and the Trepanier-Fitch elections.

This study group will continue for the next few weeks with this topic of political alignments in this province.

MEDICAL ROMANCE STRESSED BY M.D.

Doctor Nichols Addressed St. James Literary Society

"It is said that doctors always talk shop," said Dr. A. G. Nichols, M.D., D.Sc., F.R.S., in his illustrated address to the St. James Literary Society last night at the Engineering Institute. "However, tonight, I wish to place more stress upon romance than medicine."

Taking as his topic "The Romance of Medicine in French Canada," Dr. Nichols proceeded to outline the first voyages of John Cabot and Jacques Cartier and the part played by medicine in them. During his first winter in Canada, the expedition was attacked by scurvy, and only ten of his 110 men escaped the dread disease. An Indian cure consisting of boiled bark and leaves of the Spruce tree restored most of his men to health.

When the French later established a post at Port Royal, scurvy again attacked his men, but many were cured when spring arrived. With the arrival of new recruits in 1608 came Louis Hebert, Canada's first surgeon, but history has remembered him better as Canada's first true farmer.

Dr. Nichols outlined the history of French Canada's early hospitals, notably the Hotel Dieu in Montreal. This establishment endured many trials and disasters. Several times it faced extinction, only the generous donations of Madame de Bouillon in France keeping alive the oldest hospital in Montreal.

Dr. Nichols concluded his talk with slides, among them several of Montreal in its early years. Col. C. O. Reiffenstein was in the chair.

AUSTRALIANS WIN DEBATE AT MACDONALD

'Nationalism Not Harmful to Civilization'

MEET MCGILL NEXT

'Disintegration of British Empire' Is Topic of Debate in Union

A Macdonald College debating team was defeated last night by the visiting team from Australia, H. W. Robson and F. Thonemann, who will next meet a McGill team here.

Whether or not the British Empire must disintegrate will be the question under consideration at the international debate to be held in the Union Ballroom tomorrow evening at 8.15 o'clock. The Australians will uphold the affirmative of the resolution while Alfred Pick and Morton Godine will defend the unity of the Empire by debating for the negative.

Macdonald Debate.

Last night the Australian debaters successfully defended the negative side of the resolution that "Nationalism is the Enemy of Civilization" against T. N. Beaupre and Ted Bird of Macdonald College.

H. D. Brunt, Hon. President of the Literary Debating Society, welcomed the speakers.

As first speaker for the affirmative, T. N. Beaupre maintained that "Nationalism caused economic and political trouble with the interference in the rights of individuals." The Australians on the other hand claimed that "any possible catastrophe would be caused by economic troubles and opposing ideologies rather than nationalism."

Tomorrow's debate at the McGill Union is the first debate of this type that has been held at McGill for some time, and the debaters are representing countries on opposite sides of the globe.

Students of Law

The visiting Aussies have been active in debating circles of their respective universities for the past few years and are both students of law. They have been debating at all the large universities across Canada since September and McGill is proud to welcome them here to contest a question of growing importance to the Dominions.

Alfred Pick and Morton Godine are well-known to McGill students as public speakers and debaters and are both past presidents of the McGill Debating Union. Mr. Pick was the holder of the Guy Drummond Travelling Scholarship two

'That Perfect Male,' Sighs R.V.C. 'Tall, Intelligent—Where Is He?'

"My ideal man?"—and the Sadie Hawkins girls at R.V.C. sigh like an airbrake, and far-away looks come into their eyes—very far away, because they all agree that he is not to be found at McGill.

"He exists only in my imagination," as one girl put it.

One might suppose that it was Victorian maidens, and not sophisticated co-eds of today, who are speaking when one hears the list of necessary qualifications:

"He is tall, intelligent, and has a sense of humour," said a Senior.

"He is tall, blonde, a wonderful dancer, a hero in athletics, and he is always determined and definite in his opinions," breathed a Junior.

"He smokes a pipe, wears tweeds as a rule, and has dark, wavy hair," ecstatically a Sophomore, and we had visions of a manly movie star.

"He is tall, blonde, with wide shoulders tapering to a slim

Will Discuss Literary Influence of Classics

When the Classical Club meets for the second time this session tomorrow in Strathcona Hall at 4 p.m., Bella Levitt will speak on "The Influence of The Classics on Modern English Poetry."

President of the Club this session, Bella Levitt is a fourth year honours student in Latin and Greek. In her address, she will quote from two modern poets, Edward A. Robinson and A. E. Houseman, and show to what extent they are influenced by the Classics. "Not only do they adopt classical themes, but their whole attitude to their art is influenced by the writers of classical antiquity," she stated yesterday.

The meeting is open to all students to attend, but especially to those taking courses in the Classical Department. The meeting will also be attended by teachers of the Classics from various high-schools in the city. This custom was inaugurated at the first meeting this year.

COED DEBATERS MEET COMMERCE

Women's Debating Union Announces Plans

Coed-Commerce Debate to Be Held in R.V.C. Next Wednesday

Bowing to the Sadie Hawkins tradition, Co-ed debaters will challenge Commerce to a debate in R.V.C. it was announced yesterday at a meeting of the Women's Debating Union. The coming battle, which is to be held next Wednesday at 5 o'clock in Room 105 of R.V.C., will create a precedent in formally inviting male students to the Women's stronghold. Preparations are being made to accommodate a record male attendance.

Further plans for the coming season were discussed at yesterday's meeting. A budget is to be drawn up and submitted to Miss Heasley for approval. Tentative plans have been made for a debate with the Arts Debating Union and for a Public Speaking Contest to be held in December.

Two intercollegiate debates are also included in the Society's program. The first if present plans materialize will consist of a contest with the University of Montreal, in which our Co-eds hope to hold their own in a resolution concerning votes for women in this Province. The second is scheduled to take place after Christmas, with Varsity as probable opponents.

Temple Emanu-el.

The Young People's League of Temple Emanu-el will open their season on November 20, Sunday night, at 8.30 p.m. Feature of the evening will be a "True & False" Contest between certain McGill Boys' and Girls' clubs. There will be dancing and refreshments.

PHILOSOPHERS GO ARTISTIC

E. Fleer Asks: 'Can Art Be Propaganda?'

Society to Meet Tomorrow in Strathcona Hall at 8.15 P.M.

Art and Propaganda will be the subjects under discussion at tomorrow's open meeting of the Philosophical Society. The meeting will begin at 8.15 in Strathcona Hall.

Edward Fleer will introduce the subject in a short talk and then the discussion will proceed in the usual manner of the Society.

Fleer is a graduate student of Princeton and is now doing post-graduate work here. The subject he has chosen, "Can Art Be Propaganda?", was suggested by a controversial article in the Daily which was printed a short time ago and will be reprinted today or tomorrow. The author of the article asserts that "the primary function of art is to contain a social message."

Fleer challenges the writer's statement and he will give his stand at the meeting tomorrow. Charles Lipton, President of the Philosophical Society will preside. After the meeting refreshments will be served. The Society has invited everyone interested in the subject.

CO-EDS ORGANIZE RED WINGS SOCIETY

Form Group Which Will Correspond to Scarlet Key in Men's Union

Women students at McGill have always lacked an organized society corresponding to the Scarlet Key.

This year has seen the rise of a new committee sponsored by the M.W.S.A.A., which is intended to fill this gap. It is called the Red Wing Society.

As a beginning, nine members were chosen from the various years. Margaret Patch is chairman of the committee, and honorary members include Peggy Johansson as president of the M.W.S.A.A. and Doreen Brown as president of R.V.C. In future years, however, members will be elected each November to represent their respective classes, and all women students who are not carrying extra courses will be eligible.

At present the Red Wing uniform consists of a white skirt and red blazer. When the society is more firmly established, however, a white blazer with red braid will be worn and every member who fulfills seven-eighths of her duties will be allowed to keep hers at the end of the year.

The Red Wings made their first public appearance at the annual meeting of the M.W.S.A.A. on October 10th when they served tea. They also attended the Freshie Banquet and dance. As the protégé of the M.W.S.A.A., the Red Wings will welcome and entertain visiting teams; and they are also at the disposal of clubs and other campus organizations which need girls to serve tea or usher etc.

The purpose of the Red Wing Society is to represent R.V.C. in extending hospitality to visitors. It plans an organization corresponding in general to the Scarlet Key and hopes that with the co-operation and support of the women students at McGill it will achieve a similar success.

Glee Club.

A section practice of the second tenors will be held in the Union Grill Room today at 5.00 p.m. Baritone and alto practice today, same time, same place. All those who wish to make the Stanstead trip MUST turn out and all music MUST be brought in.

ARTSMEN TO DEBATE SADIE HAWKINS' WEEK

"Resolved that Sadie Hawkins will be a demoralizing influence in campus life," is one of the topics for discussion in the interclass debates to be initiated today, at 4 p.m. in room 13 of the Arts Building.

The affirmative will be upheld by Martin Hollinger and W. Schuchat of the second year, to be opposed by E. Goldman and H. Surchin of the Freshman class.

The second topic is "Resolved that celebration of Remembrance Day be discontinued." Walter Percival and Richard Hepburn representatives of 3rd year will uphold the affirmative, and Alec Stalker and Robert Spencer of the sophomore class will be their opponents.

Prof. Forsy will be the judge of today's debates.

PLAYERS TO HEAR PRODUCTION PLANS

Tickets to Be Distributed at Today's Meeting in Union

Members of the Players' Club meet today in the Union Ballroom to hear reports on their future production "French Without Tears," which is scheduled for presentation at Moyse Hall on the nights of December 8, 9, and 10. The distribution of tickets and the election of a new second vice-president are also on the agenda of the meeting.

Members of the executive of the club state that production activities are well ahead of schedule. They added that they have got the best comedy on their hands that the club has produced in years and drastic steps are being taken to see that everything will be prepared at least two weeks before the opening of the production.

Ticket-Selling Prize.

In connection with the sale of tickets by club members, the president stated that a prize of $5.00 is being offered to the person who sells the most tickets over an amount of $15. The box office for the regular ticket sales will be located in the Union, and is expected to open on Thursday, October 24.

At the same time, Ferguson announced that nominations for the office of second vice-president will be received from the floor at the meeting tomorrow afternoon. The resignation of Mary MacKenzie has necessitated this election. According to the constitution of the club, only co-ed members are eligible for the office, and, since in the ordinary course of events the election would have taken place last spring, the nominee must be in second, third or fourth year.

All members are expected to attend the meeting. Only those who have taken a definite part in the Club's activities will be entitled to vote at the end of the year in the election of next year's executive. Those who have not as yet had work assigned to them in the production of "French Without Tears," will be able to obtain assignments from production heads at the meeting tomorrow.

Maccabean Circle.

The Maccabean Circle will hold a meeting on Sunday at 3.30, in the Union building. Dr. Silverman will speak.

Around the Campus

Friends, Romans, and fellow students, annual pictures are to be taken immediately, for to be eliminated from the annual is a veritable blot on the escutcheon. . . . Wake up and listen, Neurological Society! Mr. David Thomson will speak today on "Posterior Pituitary" . . . To the poetically inclined, tomorrow is the day for the Classical Club's next meeting. . . . Members of the Players' Club may betake themselves to the Union Ballroom this afternoon for general meeting. . . . The trend of Fascism will be studied tomorrow by the most estimable S.C.M. . . . On your toes you pros and cons, today is the great day for old McGill's coming soap box orators. . . . Football fans shake a leg and buy your tickets for the forthcoming Red victory over Western.

READS RESOLUTION

Describes Present System at McGill

RAISE COLLEGE LEVEL

Mrs. Grant in Favor of Martin Scholarship Scheme

Evidence that the National Federated Scholarship drive will receive official backing was given by T. H. Matthews at the meeting held yesterday in the McGill Union.

Mr. Matthews read the following resolution which was passed by the McGill Senate in 1936. "The Senate of McGill University wishes to associate itself with the general objects of the proposed scheme of National Scholarships for Canada, and supports strongly the contention that in the interests of this country it should be possible for the ablest students of our schools to continue their education at the university. It believes that a scheme which effectively secured the required facilities would be a wise national investment and would at the same time provide a very valuable stimulus both to our educational institutions and to the youth of Canada."

Present Condition Described.

Mr. Matthews also presented yesterday a brief outline of the present state of scholarships at McGill. Fifty-nine thousand dollars is set aside each year by the Board of Governors to be used for scholarships, bursaries and loans for the use of students who are financially unable to continue at the University. Bursaries differ from scholarships only in that they are given to those students who cannot afford to remain at college, whereas scholarships are given irrespective of financial conditions. Mr. Matthews stated that he greatly approved the scheme for a system of national scholarships, as he believed it would improve the intellectual level of the student body, and make the University a more interesting place.

Backed By Martin.

Dr. Paul Martin, member of Parliament for Windsor, is an interested backer of the project. Last year Mr. Martin expressed keen interest in the students' demands at the Winnipeg conferences for a system of national scholarships. He introduced a resolution regarding this plan in Parliament, and it found the support of several members. Owing to lack of support on the part of the students the bill was shelved.

Following Mr. Matthews, Mrs. Grant spoke for a few moments on the value of a system of scholarships for Canada, as she believed that intelligent well-trained minds were essential to the further development of this country. She spoke of Mr. Martin's great interest in the project, and stressed the necessity for strong student backing.

Speakers Thanked.

Donald Lloyd-Smith, acting chairman of the meeting, thanked the speakers, and then called for nominations. Neville Wykes was elected to the post of chairman for the McGill committee of the National Federated Scholarship Committee. Other members of the committee are Eleanor Hunter, Sidney Friedman, Madeleine Parent, Donald Williams, David Sugar and Richard Murray.

Lines Temporarily Changed.

Andy Anton and Ronnie Perowne will not be included in the line-up due to the necessity of keeping in trim for next Saturday's grid contest at the Stadium. Thus Farquharson will have to temporarily reshuffle the lines (ill they return to the fold. Russ McConnell is all set for his biggest year, his injured knee being back in A-1 condition. To be certain that it would be in perfect working order Russ did not join this year's football team.

GYM JOTTINGS

By Dave Sproule

After that long, lazy and somewhat disappointing week-end about twenty eager fellows were rarin' to go on Monday afternoon, though some were still rather stiff and sore after last week's activities on the apparatus.

As mentioned above, the membership of the Gym Club is, at present, approximately twenty—an all-time high (I'll bet). There is room for lots more, though, because a city league is being organized between different schools, colleges and "Y's". There are three classes, Juvenile, Junior and Senior. McGill will enter only Junior and Senior teams. It might be hard to find enough men for these teams so why don't YOU try out—you have a good chance. As each team competes against every other team twice (at home and away), we shall have to have teams ready pretty soon in order to finish this year's series before exam time (unhappy thought).

We'd like to see more of those tumbling cheerleaders around the gym. How about it, Bill, Dunc, Benny and Frank?

One of my sordid prospectors friends, himself a gymnast, recommended the following gentlemen: Jim Bilkey, Paul Wright, Gil Peradeau, Mr. Massue, Stuart McNab and Bill Hurd. What say, fellows?

CLASS BASKETBALL LEAGUE TO OPEN

More Entries Needed—Inter-faculty Loop Plays Later

With the end of the Touch Rugby Season comes the Inter-class Basketball games, and up to the present time entries for this league have been very few and far between. The league usually consists of approximately sixteen teams, and since there is such a large number, the arranging of a schedule is no small task, so classes wishing to enter teams should do so as soon as possible.

Names of class and managers should be given, either to Coach Van Wagner or to Norman Retailack at EL. 8208. Mr. Van Wagner can be found at the Athletic Office. The League will start as soon as all the details can be attended to. Games will be played at the Montreal High Gym at either 5 or 6 p.m.

Med. III Winners.
The Interclass championship was won last year by Medicine III after a hard fight with Eng. III. There were sixteen teams entered and they were divided into four groups of four teams each. These teams played a single round robin to determine the leader of each section. The four winners, together with the winning second-place team (all the second-place teams play off in a sudden death series) enter the final. The five teams then play a single round robin to determine the Interclass champions.
At the conclusion of the Interclass League the Interfaculty League holds sway. This title was won last year by Medicine. The winning Interclass team members are awarded numerals.

'Posterior Pituitary' Subject of Today's Address
"Posterior Pituitary" will be the subject of an address by Mr. David Thomson. Mr. Thomson will lecture before the Montreal Neurological Society at its next meeting, which is to be held this evening at 5 o'clock in the Neurological Institute.

NONDESCRIPT DUCK APPEARS, DISAPPEARS IN ADAMS SUITE

Cambridge.—William C. Rittman '39 and L. E. Leboeuf '39 awoke yesterday morning to find a plump duck complacently waddling about their living room in Adams House. When they returned from breakfast the duck, which they had left paddling around in the bath tub, had disappeared as mysteriously as it came. Leboeuf and Rittman hinted darkly at a plot, and said that investigation had revealed that "a certain party" had purchased one live duck for 96 cents.

"He was a nondescript duck, with no outstanding personality whatsoever. He just made quiet little noises," Leboeuf reminisced sadly. "He probably took Philosophy six," an inky-fingered bystander muttered.—Harvard Crimson.

TAME BUCKING BRONCS IS AIM OF KERR KLAN

Student Coupons Will Be Accepted for Game

OFFICIALS ARE NAMED

Tabah, Ruschin, Telford Show Great Improvement From Injuries

The Board of Strategy which controls the destinies of the Roaring Red Raiders, have got their heads together, for fair, this week, trying to figure out the causes for the defeat at the hands of Western last Saturday, and when found to lay these causes once and for all. When the Bucking Broncos came to town next Saturday, then, they can expect to find an altogether different state of affairs confronting them than they had in the last late lamented game.

Practices, during the week, can be expected to be fairly light as Coach Doug Kerr does not want any more injuries on his hands caused from coming into contact with the cold, hard, frost-bitten November earth.

Light Workouts

Last evening's workout consisted of blocking and signal practice. Added to this line Coach Freddie Wigle put his charges through a pretty stiff line drill. Bob Keefer was practising running back drop kicks, and all in all things were shaping up pretty well.

The team's three invalids were around in the persons of "Sleepy" Telford, Capt. Lou Ruschin and Eddie Tabah. Of the three Tabah seems in the best shape, while Capt. Ruschin's knee was still uncertain. However he was doing a bit of working out with the rest of the boys. Telford's shoulder is coming along very nicely, but all three of them will have to be passed on by the Doctor before it is definite whether they will be able to play or not.

Keefer's Shoulder Good.

Bob Keefer's shoulder didn't bother him one little bit, which was no doubt due to the capable handling of Trainer Harry Grimes and Dr. Cammy MacArthur—the latter substiting for Dr. Tees, who is ill.

The officials who are to handle the game have been appointed, but much brain work went on before everybody was satisfied. The whistle tooters will consist of Bill Consiglio as referee, Ike Sutton as umpire and Ga. Mungovan as head linesman. Milt Jewell and Sox Kress were considered but Western ruled against them as they are Mustang Grads. However, everyone was satisfied with the above mentioned trio. So they will be the bosses for game of games next Saturday.

There have been rumours flying about hither and yon that coupons will not be honoured for Saturday's game. Any or all of these are entirely without foundation as all Student Coupons will be accepted.

CASTS CHOSEN FOR WORKSHOP PLAYS

Three Productions to Be Presented on Fifteenth of December

Casting for the three Workshop plays was completed last night according to a statement issued by Maurice Hecht, the Director of the Players' Club Workshop. The three plays to be produced on the fifteenth of December are "Ashes" by Johnston Watts; "The Beaded Buckle" by Francis Grey; and an untitled play written by the staff of the Workshop.

"Ashes" is a play about a Peace Prize winning professor in modern Germany. Barbara Mullan and J. McNiven are in charge of the direction. H. Moss and Popsie Francis have been selected as the professor and his wife. Two other male parts are not yet filled.

"The Beaded Buckle" is a folk comedy of southern aristocracy. The directors for this light farce are Katinka Aikins and Ed. Lemieux. In the cast are S. Griffin, N. Manson, Peg Ferguson, I. Bruneau, and I. Kneeland. There is one male part yet uncast.

The third play is about modern

The Red Senior Tank Squad take on Y.M.H.A. at the latter's home quarters on Mount Royal avenue west, this evening in the first of a twin bill. The game gets under way at 8:30 p.m., and although the Reds are up against a very tough nut to crack they will be out there to play their hardest and attempt to chalk up their initial win of the season.

There will be two new regulars on the team in the persons of Issenman and Eden, who have been moved up to permanent positions as subs on the Senior squad. There will be no practice for the Seniors tomorrow but the juniors will be at the Columbus Pool at 3:30 p.m. as per usual.

Following is the line-up:
Goal—Findlay.
Defence—McGuire, Shapiro, Centre—Shawovitch
Forwards—Lindsay, Leonards.
Subs: Eden, Issenman.

SENIOR CAGEMEN PLAY NATIONALS

Exhibition Game Tonight at M.H.S. Gymnasium

Before travelling to Burlington to play the University of Vermont on December 3, Coach Van Wagner's basketball squad will play a number of exhibition tilts with various city teams. The first of these will take place tonight in the Montreal High Gymnasium at 6 p.m. when the college cagers oppose the Nationale quintet.

Last year the squad fared rather badly, losing the greater majority of their games. However, the current crop of stalwarts are shaping up well and should be tough opposition by the time the city and intercollegiate loops open. Practices have been held every day for the senior team and every member is familiar with the position he has to fill.

Team Much Practised.

The boys are unanimous in their optimism for a win this evening and with a few breaks should come out with a substantial majority of the tallies. The Redmen have had considerably more practice than the Nationale squad and this is always an advantage for any team.

As the tilt is more or less of a practice for both teams, all of the basketballmen will have opportunity to get on the floor and the coaches will profit the teams by pointing out any faults or methods of improvement.

Giannasio, Wykes and Kingston will probably form the bulwark of the present Red machine, which swings into action in the Intercollegiate League after the holidays.

people. Selected for this cast are P. Matheson, B. Thom, E. Dettmers, L. Auld, J. Edward, H. Mingie, J. Whitmore, M. Stee, L. McNiece, B. Allison, P. Hogle, R. O'Connell, J. Harrison, J. Clarke, and H. Mitchell. The only male character has not yet been chosen.

Rehearsals for these plays will start the end of this week. As there are several male parts not yet filled any interested males are asked to get in touch with the Workshop Director after the general meeting at five in the Union tomorrow.

HEIFETZ PLAYS FOR SCIENCE AS ANALYSER SPLITS SOUND

Cambridge—Rare chords of an ancient 1700 Stradivarius and a Guarnerius met an electric test of science yesterday in the laboratory of Frederick A. Saunders, professor of Physics, in an attempt to discover whether modern technique can surpass the art of the famous Italian masters.

Using a harmonic analyser which gives a phonographic record of each sound, the scientists dissected 64 notes from the violins, played by Jascha Heifetz, world-famous musician. The artist sat in a special sound box and held each note for four or five seconds while vibrating pens wrote the delicate message on drums.

After keeping his eye on a red light which determined the length of each tone, Heifetz said: "Most of the time it was too long. I hope it was all right."

An absent-minded professor (probably Professor Applebee) stood in front of the wrong side of the mirror and failed to see his reflection. He figured that he must have already gone to work, so he went back to bed.

SAILORS CHART WINTER SEASON

Iceboat to Be Purchased—Beginning of a Fleet

Two Meetings Monthly Will Be Held During Winter

The McGill Sailing Club held its regular November meeting yesterday afternoon in the Union when several dozen students gathered to formulate plans for the iceboating season. The meeting was highlighted by the showing of four reels of film: two taken by Frank Nobbs at regattas in which McGill participated, and two taken by McGill's athletic director on his yearly sailing trips on the Great Lakes.

The Commodore reported that he had been offered an ice boat at a reasonable price and that more boats were in the offing. To cover the necessary expense a small membership fee was instituted. Non-members of the Club will be permitted to make use of its facilities as the guest of a member on payment of a reasonable fee to defray expenses arising out of wear and tear on the iceboat. Fees are payable to the Club Treasurer, Walter Martinello. A number of members are experienced in handling this type of craft and they will provide instruction for novices.

The Commodore announced that the Pointe Claire Yacht Club had invited the McGill Sailing Club to participate in the former's regular meets. The offer was accepted and members who are interested in real competition will find plenty of opportunity to sail against good competition at Pointe Claire.

Next Meeting.

It was decided that during the iceboating season two meetings a month will be held: one, a luncheon meeting with a speaker, the other an informal five o'clock meeting to discuss problems arising out of the Club's iceboating activities. The next regular meeting, then, will take place around the middle of December, by which time Lake St. Louis should be frozen over. The guest speaker will be Dr. O'Brien, of the Department of Anatomy, Faculty of Medicine, who has been invited to speak on his experience sailing to Scotland. This will take the form of a luncheon meeting. Details as to place and time will appear later in the Daily.

Coaching System...

...Coach of the Senior team is Hughie Farquharson, star of many great McGill teams not so long ago. There are two other McGill hockey teams—the Inter and the Juniors. Helping to coach the Intermediates is Dr. Letourneau, not so long ago a byword of McGill football teams. And the Juniors, what happens to them? They trust that they were born hockey players with all the fine points of the game inherent in them or that some member of the Senior team can gaze benevolently upon them from time to time.

Not Far Off...

...It seems a pity that a coaching system like the one used in football cannot be installed for hockey. Four years ago Coach Doug Kerr coached the Freshman football team to a championship and said that in his fourth year he would have a senior intercollegiate championship team. This is the fourth year. Furthermore, the Inter and second have been topnotchers. That's what one coherent coaching system does.

McGill cannot rely on self-made stars to win titles in years to come. Coach Farquharson needs real tangible coaching assistance for developing players in the minor teams. We hope the day when that happens is not too far off, or else we'll wake up and find ourselves even without the Intercollegiate hockey title.

En Passant...

...The Athletics Council sent the four injured footballers to Western but with many ifs and whereases to prevent any idea of precedent being set. Usually there are so many ailing players that even the large gates this year wouldn't cover train fares if all went. In 1928 over 1,000 students went to Kingston for the second-to-last football game of the season by special train, sixteen special busses and sundry cars. We're not so marvellous now, couldn't even run one excursion train. A certain footballer has wanted his picture taken to put in the Daily... but it takes a lot of bribing. Many will be surprised to know that Major Forbes was not too keen for a final play-off here. The gate is split amongst the four colleges. One of the harriers was forced to stop for a few minutes in the middle of the race in Toronto, but not to tie his shoe-lace or wash his hands. Football is a baby's game now; catching the ball with one bounce is fair.

and should step into their respective positions well versed in what is expected of them.

Team Optimistic

How the team will shape up this year is still a matter of speculation, but those in the know are optimistic about the team's chances. McGill has not won a senior group title for five years and the boys feel that the time is ripe to win it again. Chances in the intercollegiate loop are always favourable towards the Redmen and by the time these games start with Princeton on January 5 the team should have an ample amount of practice under its belt. Last year the team was rather slow in starting but ended up the season in whirlwind fashion, winning practically all of their latter tussles. If the team can only catch this winning spirit at the outset of the schedule, the opposing teams are going to find them hard to beat.

McGill Home Game.

In the whole Senior Group schedule there are only four McGill home games and these are the only games at which the coupons will be accepted. Tonight's game is a home game so everyone will do well by turning out and make the best of the free admission.

The line-up is as follows: Goal.....Emerson (1) Defence.....Dickson (2) Defence.....Dunn (4) Forwards.....McConnell (7) Forwards.....Walker (6) Forwards.....Craig (11) Subs: Brands (5), Hibbard (12), Owen (10), Crutchfield (8), Taylor-Kennedy, O'Brien, McDonald.

THE TURNING TIDE OF UNIVERSITY AFFAIRS

International Student Service.

The International Student Service conference on "Peaceful Change" was held at Southampton during April. There were 85 delegates from Czechoslovakia, Denmark, France, Germany, Great Britain, Hungary, Sweden, Switzerland and Yugoslavia, together with representatives of the London and Paris offices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, and members of the I.S.S. staff from London and Geneva.

The conference met in round tables to discuss: Stability and Change in International Relations, Economic Appraisal, Danubian Questions, The Colonial Problem and the Procedure of Peaceful Change and the reports of these Commissions were discussed in a plenary session. The conclusions of such a conference were not to have the nature of agreed recommendations. In all the discussion was characterized by sharp disagreements, as for instance, when Germans, British and French considered the economic value of colonies. Even the Commission on Procedure soon came up against the opposing theories of bilateralism and multilateralism.

Nevertheless there was enough agreement and readiness to appreciate other points of view to make one feel optimistic for the long run—when the students of today should be in positions of responsibility—however pessimistic one might be about the short run. The Social side of Conference activities was, of course, exceedingly successful. —"Wessex News", Southampton.

Freedom of Speech.

From the "Critic" of Otago University, we obtain two instances of the sort of liberty which is allowed to students under this much vaunted system of democracy.

At Victoria University College, New Zealand, discussion of sex and religion at University meetings is prohibited by the Professorial Board.

At a meeting of the McGill University Social Problems Club a Communist contributor to a symposium was informed that he was liable to a year's imprisonment under a law which makes it illegal to propagate Communist doctrines in the Province of Quebec. This, mind you, after a Conservative, a Liberal and a Fascist had spoken to the same meeting.

It does seem very disheartening that the University, which is widely regarded as the centre of learning and the one means of bringing the light to the ignorant seeker, should be nothing more than a net of ill-seeming reaction. Instead of coming to college to be taught to teach ourselves, we find that in reality we are taught what we must not teach ourselves. Fortunately, not every University is afflicted with the same disease, and we hope that the methods of modern science and inquiry will soon find a preventative.

Herr Hitler has been appointed Poet Laureate of the Reich.

German Student Culture.

The subservient mentality of the German student of today is quite incomprehensible. The flower of the old culture has withered and in its place there stands a hollow mask flashily painted and bedizen-ed, but empty of any real significance. Art schools produce busts of Hitler and study busts of Hitler and bespatter their museums with busts of Hitler. Students of literature read "Mein Kampf" and write essays about Hitler and actually paint his words on the walls of their libraries. There are no political students in the accustomed sense of the word, but a racial science has been established the sole aim of which is to prove the supremacy of the German people—and perhaps the British people as well when Hitler feels that he would like a couple of colonies. Women are discouraged from attending Universities and have it impressed upon them that their sole function in life is the bearing and caring of children.

It is incredible. The German student does not think of new liberty or new culture except in an indirect way as it renders his blind adulation of one man more perfect. The purge of the people may somehow have been necessary (though this does not in any way sanction anti-Semitism), but now it has been carried far beyond the bounds of reason. The only result is that the hoped-for revival of the German culture will be indefinitely postponed and perhaps killed, because if the frosts of winter are prolonged far into spring, there can be no roots from which the plants of summer may spring.

Students' Union.

At Melbourne recently 3,000 students from all parts of Australia witnessed the opening of a new Students' Union in that University. It was the culmination of continued co-operation between students, staff and general public and provided Melbourne with a real cultural amenity.

Wits may derive some slight encouragement, but our Union does seem a long way off.

The War in China.

At the International Conference of the World Student Association for Peace, Freedom and Culture, the student delegates after considering with approval the reports of organized assistance for the Chinese students from all countries in the world, drafted the following two messages which throw a clear light on the actual position in the East:

To the Students of China: "Ever since the demonstration of the Peiping students of December 9th, 1935, students throughout the world have followed with closest attention the development of your great movement. We have watched with admiration your efforts to achieve the unity of the student body in China, in every University town and province; we have watched the formation of the All-China Student Union and the way in which you have unsparingly placed yourselves at the service of the nation in your campaigns for the education of the people and for famine relief.

We have always recognized that your struggle for the territorial integrity of your country is not only a fight for a free China, but also a fight for peace in the Far East, for world peace. With every day that passes this becomes clearer. We regard the aggression of Japanese militarists as an absolutely unprovoked violation of the Covenant of the League of Nations and of the treaties which the Japanese Government has signed in recent years. We consider that your constant and loyal collaboration with the World Student Association, your co-operation with other student organizations in the East, and the fact that you have stretched out your hand to the students of Japan and called upon them to join with you to further the cause of peace and liberty in the Far East—shows clearly that it is the desire of the Chinese students to struggle side by side with all students of every country.

To the Students of Japan: "We know that you love your country and that what you desire is a better life for the Japanese people, the development of your culture, a secure future for the students and the whole of the youth of your country.

The Chinese students, too, love their people. They have fought many long and heroic struggles for the independence of their country and for the education of their people. And the Chinese students, while resisting the attacks of Japanese militarism on their country, have held out their hand to the Japanese people, to the youth and students of Japan, and called upon them to co-operate in a struggle for peace and liberty in the Far East. We know that the appeal of the Chinese students has not remained without an answer in your country. The students throughout the world echo the appeal of the Chinese students and urgently call upon you to do everything within your power to bring an end to the war against the Chinese people and to work for the establishment of peace in the Far East."

University Education in Russia. At the present moment there are some 525 universities in the U.S.S.R., including 119 industrial high schools, MCGILL ANNUAL Final notice for Arts and Science. The remaining 52 students in Arts and Science MUST have their pictures taken today at Strathcona Hall. This is positively their last chance. The price is $2.75 payable at the time of sitting.

90 agronomical institutes, 88 pedagogical seminaries and 77 faculties of medicine. Whoever shows intellectual ability, regardless of sex, race, or nationality, and irrespective of his material situation, may enter the University. More than half a million young men and women are now attending courses in these institutes of higher education. As opposed to the system in vogue in other countries, not only are there no university fees, but the great majority of the students receive a regular monthly scholarship which allows them to devote their whole time to their studies. Moreover, they live in student hostels where they are surrounded with the best possible conditions for making the most of their time at the University.

In 1914 there were less than 120,000 university students in Russia. In 1930 there were 191,000 and in 1935, 522,000.

Soviet students, their studies over, never have to face unemployment. A post is guaranteed them, even before leaving the University. And although the number of students grows ceaselessly, the need for men and women formed by the institutions of higher education is always greater than the number of those who study. Between 1930 and 1935, 280,000 young specialists graduated from the Universities and 520,000 from the technical schools. As in all other domains of Soviet life, women are on a completely equal footing with men in the universities. In 1935 the proportion of women studying in the universities amounted to 38 per cent. and in the technical high schools to 44 per cent.
